OPEN PAIRS QUALIFYING ROUND TWO

Barry Rigal
For the second session of the qualifying pairs my strategy was to find two $\mathrm{N} / \mathrm{S}$ pairs who had done well in the first session and to try not to put too much of a hex on them. I guess I got lucky since the two pairs in question finished 1st and 2nd in the N/S field.
I would watch Marty Fleisher and Sartaj Hans for the first 12 deals of the session, and they started with an explosion rather than just a bang, with three almost unshared tops on the first three deals.

Fleisher could not double 2 for penalty so bid what he thought he could make. He ducked the spade lead round to the ten and his ace, then led a heart from hand and when East followed low unconcernedly he ducked, forcing the king. Back came a spade, ducked to the queen. Now Fleisher decided that East must have some shape in the minors on top of the 5-4 major-suit pattern. So he led &A and when the jack appeared he played a club to the eight. Then he took two more top clubs and when East pitched a heart he ducked a second heart and could unscramble his tricks to come to +430 .

Fleisher found the best line on our next exhibit - alas only in the post-mortem. Fortunately the defenders had failed to keep the correct cards in the ending, so his mistake will go no further than the two of us; right?
Humphries intelligently tried to get herself off a later endplay by disembarrassing herself of the $\vee \mathrm{A}$ at trick one. Then she shifted to a club to the jack and ace, at which point Fleisher could be relatively confident the K was wrong, else why the lead with a safe club alternative? So you can maximise your squeeze chances with a dummy reversal. Win the $\uparrow$ A to ruff a spade, heart to hand and spade ruff, then cash $\forall A$ and play off your last heart. East is caught in a diamond club squeeze.
When Kieran Dyke played this board in $4 \vee$ against Brown/Spooner, Brown led a club to trick one, a third/low 46 . When Dyke won and played a trump Brown won and broke up the squeeze by returning a club. However he played back a low club; should Dyke have run this to his bare 9 ? Even if it loses to a false-card at trick one from J10xxx, it breaks even at worst in just about any other position. The second overtrick made the difference between a $79 \%$ and $38 \%$ result.

Sartaj Hans had to keep the journalist happy, so he made his bid for immortality on the next deal.
After the $Q$ lead Hans had to be careful. If he ducks, a spade shift would be fatal. Instead he won and played the &K. When that was ducked he led a club to the nine, figuring that since he knew his LHO's heart stop was weak, he surely had more than a bare ace in clubs to risk a 1NT call here.
Jenny Millington and Barry Jones brought Hans down to Earth a few deals later.

Hans reached $4 \bullet$ on a sensible if undiscussed auction. Millington led the $\boldsymbol{\$} 9$, again a difficult card to interpret. If declarer plays on cross-ruff lines he might come close, but with both minors ready to be overruffed even nine tricks look like a challenge. Hans did well in a sense to put up the \&A and play a diamond. Jones did equally well to take the $\forall$ and shift to spades. Hans won his ace and eventually decided to rely on 3-2 trumps and nothing else too terrible. So he cashed the $¥ \mathrm{~A}$ and V and the roof fell in. Jones could overruff in diamonds, draw declarer's last trump, and cash out the spades for two down, and an $89 \%$ score.
At about the halfway mark of the set I switched tables to see how William Jenner-O'Shea and Mike Doecke were doing. As it turned out they had nearly a $75 \%$ first half, and did only slightly less well when I was looking. Of course it doesn't hurt to have your opponents self-destruct against you, when you have doubled them in a cold game.

Not all of Doecke's calls on this deal would achieve the government seal of approval, but to be fair the spade suit did not lie quite as well for him as he had hoped. A diamond or trump lead might have worked best on defence, but Jenn-O'Shea led a spade and Doecke continued the suit. Declarer ruffed and ran the &Q unsuccessfully. Back came a trump and when declarer won on the board, all that was necessary was to ruff a spade, lead a heart to dummy, ruff another spade and take the ruffing finesse in hearts for 11 tricks. When East managed to lose both a heart and diamond trick the daring duo had yet again snatched victory and a $100 \%$ board from the jaws of disaster.
Two boards later they did the same again:

A spade lead might leave declarer too much to do; but how should you play on a natural $\downarrow J$ lead, won in hand with the $\leqslant$ ? The answer is simple if you can count to nine.
You have a guaranteed six tricks in the minors with North marked with $\leqslant 10$. With two heart tricks on top, all you need to do is build a spade trick. Simplest might be to play back a diamond at trick two then get in and lead a spade to the king. You won't score fewer than nine tricks this way - and a $69 \%$ result. Declarer chose to take a heart finesse, not entirely unreasonably, I admit, and now when the defenders cleared diamonds West had eight tricks but no more. And a 5\% result to go with his -50 .

A natural auction got West to very much the best contract though she was unconvinced of this when dummy came down. After a diamond lead to the $\forall A$ declarer finessed the spades, then unblocked the club honors and ruffed a spade on the board. Now she settled for simplicity even though the carding had suggested 4-2 clubs, by pitching her spade on the \&A and North ended up with three trump tricks. It might have been right to play a trump reduction I suppose. After the spade finesse succeeds, ruff a spade, ruff a diamond, play two rounds of clubs overtaking in dummy and ruff another diamond. Then when you lead the fourth spade, planning to ruff in enough to give E/W a 60\% board. Many of the field had played the wrong game.

Sometimes it can be hard to tell whether you have done or well when dummy comes down; and sometimes even when seeing the full hand you might misestimate your result by a considerable amount.

The strong club Jenner-O'Shea and Doecke play has a Blue-Club like semi-positive 10 response. Their unopposed sequence let North show 5-7 at his first turn, whereupon Doecke showed a $2 \%$ opener with four hearts and six diamonds via a game-forcing relay followed by a jump to $3 \boldsymbol{}$. Jenner-O'Shea chose not to cuebid and simply bid $4 \boldsymbol{}$. He was obviously close to doing more. His partner had already shot his bolt, so obediently passed.
After a club lead North won in dummy and played a heart to the queen and jack. The fall of the JJ might have been a false card, but I think you have to pay off to such brilliance. Declarer ruffed a diamond in hand and crossed to a top spade to ruff a second diamond, finding to his annoyance that the diamonds were perfectly situated for play at no-trumps. He still had to lose two trumps, on a deal where 12 tricks at no-trump would have been easy. So what did he score for +650 ?
One pair bid and made the heart slam, a tenth of the field played no-trump and scored 660 or better. A quarter of the field went down in slam or played partscore (!) and scores of 620 or 600 were not uncommon, so +650 represented a $65 \%$ result.
At the end of the set my two pairs had done me proud, comfortably leading the N/S field with $65 \%$ games over the day.

DAY TWO

OPEN PAIRS FINAL SESSION ONE  What a difference a day makes

Barry Rigal

Having brought good luck to both the pairs I watched on Saturday evening I was hoping to see good bridge or at least good results for the two leading pairs, whom I could watch simultaneously for the whole session. It was not to be: both pairs, while not precisely stinking up the joint, were in bad luck and bad form, and ended the set close to the bottom of the pile.

6* isn't cold but you'd probably want to be there. After a spade lead I'm not sure if you draw one top trump and then play hearts or whether you draw a second trump (and maybe even a third?) then play on hearts. As the cards lay the 4-0 trump break was enough to sink the slam, while $4 \checkmark$ and 3 NT were where the money was. In 3NT you win the spade, test clubs, then duck a heart. You win the spade return and run hearts, pitching two diamond and two clubs from the board and squeezing East. That player must keep three clubs and $\uparrow A$ thus must pitch his spade. So you knock out the diamond ace and claim 11 tricks.
Milne scored a goal in the auction here, but was unable to convert his aggression in the auction to a total victory.

Milne bought a good dummy for his exuberance. He ruffed the heart lead and finessed in trumps, ruffed a heart and drew the last trump, then stripped off the hearts and led a club up. Fleisher took the ace and returned a club; Milne won the king after some thought, ruffed a club, and discovered the 5-2 break. Hans was marked with a singleton diamond - was it an honour or a small card? Playing the strict odds Milne misguessed by leading towards the jack, hoping to endplay Fleisher. But Hans could win the king and exit with the club queen, leaving Milne with a slow diamond loser. He still had an above average result but it could have been so much better.

Liam Milne

You could argue that Fleisher's slow $5 \checkmark$ call when he had as much as he was already known to have, must have been because he was thinking of slam. If he had both diamond honours wouldn't he have bid Blackwood? There again, one could argue Marty doesn't do anything fast... and note that $6 \odot$ makes on anything but a club lead with $6 \boldsymbol{v}$ by North - the obvious contract - cold.
As we shall see, today featured a number of deals where the ability to count correctly to a number between 2 and 13 was the central issue - and by and large the field fared abominably on this exercise. As witness the noble exception to my criticism.

Pete Hollands and Vanessa Brown bid unopposed against Janet Kahler and Peter Quach, to 4 after Hollands opened in second seat. Their auction was: $1 \boldsymbol{1}-4 \boldsymbol{4}$. Hollands received the $\$ 7$ lead and East won the ace to return the $\boldsymbol{\mathrm { J }}$. Hollands took it and played the $\$ 10$; jack king ace. Now that East, a passed hand, had shown nine points in the black suits declarer laid down the $\vee$ A and was charmed by the result. +450 . That was undivided top for them in the C final. Go on. Guess; how many pairs in the A final duplicated this action? Step forward Terje Lie and GeO Tislevoll, the only pair to make the discovery play to land 11 tricks. That snort of derision you hear is coming from me...

We've all heard of a suicide or fratricide squeeze; there must be a name for a worse infraction, but I can't think of it offhand. I'm not going to tell you who was defending (cheque in the post please, usual conditions apply...) but declarer was Giselle Mundell playing with Matt Smith. North led a fourth-highest heart - optimistic but not unreasonable. Declarer played two high spades from hand, ducked, then a third spade. At this point North knows the hearts are dead, and should use the opportunity to pitch the $\geqslant 3$ - maybe a mild preference for clubs?
North actually stabbed his partner to the heart with an upside-down 48 - suggesting by inference that he would be happy with a diamond shift. When South trustingly played a diamond he chose the 4 - better than an honour but only for a while...Mundell put in the $\diamond 8$ and was charmed when it held. She led a heart honour from hand, and North won and played a club, but declarer could win and run the major suit winners and squeeze South in the minors, thanks to that $\$ 8$ discard. A cool +660 ; the fact that N/S scored as much as $12 \%$ here was because three Easts had been treated to an opening lead of $\langle$.

Sometimes the name of the game is damage limitation. Don't despair because your opponents appear to be about to hand you your head. Maybe other people will be in the same spot and you can scramble some points just by not panicking.

At eight of the 14 tables South opened 3 and was doubled for take-out, converted to penalties by a grateful East. One South bought the hand in 2 x , the other E/W pairs played 3 NT with varying degrees of success. Against $3 \times$ the opening lead was a top club and a shift to $\bullet$. Where I was watching declarer ducked this and East overtook to play a diamond. When West took the $A$ then the $\$ \mathrm{~K}$ and played a second heart, declarer put up the ace and played a spade. East won the ace, and played a heart. Declarer ruffed and overtook the $\downarrow$ Q to ruff a plain card back to hand. In the four-card ending with $\uparrow$ Q1097 left while RHO had $\uparrow$ KJ82, the defenders could take only two more tricks.

Terje Lie was also doubled in 3 on the same lead and continuation against Doecke/Jenner-O'Shea. Here after winning $\vee Q$ at trick two the defenders took their club and diamond winners then exited in diamonds. Lie put up the king and led a trump but the defenders here simply played back a heart to the ace. Declarer could reduce his trumps once only, and in the five-card ending when he led the $₫ Q$ from hand Jenner-O'Shea won and played the fourth heart. Declarer ruffed and led the $\mathbf{1 0}$, ducked, so it was declarer who was trump endplayed for -800. That extra undertrick was worth a third of a top.

Sartaj Hans and Marty Fleisher did not have much to write home about on Mike Doecke, Alon Apteker, Will JennerO'Shea, Sven-Ake Bjerregard this set, but Sartaj made the most of his chances here.

The 40 call may have been exaggerated but Hans would have accepted an invitation of course. On the singleton spade lead Hans won the ace and led a club. Lambardi won to play a trump, and Hans won in dummy to try to cash $\boldsymbol{\Phi} \mathrm{K}$ to pitch a diamond. On ruffing this Kaplan shifted to a diamond, and Hans went up with $\$ A$ to advance the $₫ J$, covered with the queen and ruffed high. When Kaplan discarded a club, that was all the help Hans needed. Club ruff, diamond ruff, club ruff and the $\$ 10$ pitching a club let North ruff in, but West's hand was now high.

The final deal of the session was a top or bottom decision for each pair.

Redouble was a suggestion to play there with $2 \diamond$ sounding like a singleton club thus a 4-4-$4-1$ pattern. Maybe North could have explored more gently but as it was 3NT simply seems to have 10 tricks, with hearts having 11 winners once trumps divide. Fleisher led a low club for the ten and ace, then won the $\triangle$ to return a slightly careless $\$ 9$ - imagine the six and eight of clubs switched to see why. Declarer ran all his spade and heart winners in hand and reduced to a three-card ending with a club and two diamonds in hand and queen-third of diamonds in dummy. Hans unblocked all his high clubs to keep the five to avoid the endplay. Apteker duly exited with the club but Fleisher's seven won the trick and the diamond came through, meaning a $75 \%$ result for E/W instead of a round zero.

RESTRICTED PAIRS FINAL B SESSION TWO Movin' on Up  Brent Manley

Based on their results, Gary and Debbie Gibbards of Caboolture have been enjoying themselves in the Restricted Pairs as they moved up to third place in the B Final on Sunday with a strong showing.
Their scorecard from Sunday was littered with tops and near tops thanks in part to tough defensive play. Here is an example of how they have made life difficult for the opponents.

The 2NT opening showed a hand similar to the Unusual 2NT overcall (minors) when employed against a majorsuit opening and the two lowest unbid suits against a minor-suit opening.
Against 3NT, Debbie started with the $\$ 6$. Declarer played low from dummy and took Gary's $\$ 10$ with the King. Declarer then played a low diamond from her hand. Debbie, in with the $\$ \mathrm{~K}$, continued with the $\$ 3$. Declarer played low and Gary won with the $\boldsymbol{\&} \mathrm{J}$ and played the $\boldsymbol{\&} 2$, taken by dummys $\boldsymbol{\&} \mathrm{A}$. The $\$ \mathrm{~J}$ was now played to to Gary's ace. He cashed the $\& Q$ and the $\$ 8$, followed by the $\geqslant A$ and a diamond to declarer's queen. East finished with six tricks and the Gibbards had plus 300 and a $100 \%$ score. With a round to go, the Gibbards were only about 5 matchpoints out of first place.

You find your chances of making 12 tricks appear to rest on the trump finesse. Can you improve the odds?
Answer: yes, so long as you remember to put up the spade queen at the first trick, so that when East covers, West does not know if a second spade is cashing.
Now it might be right to ignore the risk of a 5-1 club break and to compound your earlier deception to lead the club jack to the ace (so that West cannot foresee any discards looming) then run the heart queen. If West works out to shift to a diamond after winning the heart king, give up, and go join an easier game!

WELCOME TO NEW PLAYERS AT THE GCC

Brent Manley

Have You Discussed? Part 3 More Essential Conventions
Today's topics are negative doubles and Blackwood, including one popular variation.

Negative Double

This clever convention dates from 1937 but was popularised by Alvin Roth and Tobias Stone, one of the all-time great partnerships. The convention is meant to solve a problem that occurs when partner opens the bidding and the next hand overcalls.

Consider this auction:

| West | North  Partner  1 | East | South |
| :--- | :--- | :--- | :--- |
|  | $1 *$ | You |  |
|  |  | Dbl |  |

South holds

- K 6 4 2 MK J 4 2 74 4865

There is no satisfactory bid for this hand. It lacks the required length and strength to bid a suit at the two level, and South cannot raise opener's suit with a doubleton. 2NT, inviting game, would show a stopper plus more high-card strength than you have, so that's not an option either. The negative double is the answer, promising both four-card majors and at least 7 high-card points.
A negative double can be made after a one-level overcall with as few as 6 high-card points. For example, after 1 - (1v), you can double with the same hand, only this time strongly suggesting four spades.
In that same auction after 1-(1『), you can also double with a hand worth an opening bid, such as

- AJ 52 -10 752 K & A Q 82

Note that you would still double with the stronger hand because bidding 1 would show five (or more) in the suit.
Using the negative double does not preclude exacting a penalty when you have length and strength in overcaller's suit. You simply pass and hope opener has the right hand to double, which he will do in many cases when he is short in overcaller's suit. Opener will consider the possibility that you have made a "trap pass" with the hope of exacting a penalty.
Another point for discussion with partner: you can use the negative double when you have a long suit but lack the HCP required for direct action, something like

- 75 VQ J 10987 K 6 &J 109.

Partner opens 1 and the next player bids 1 1 . Make a negative double, planning to bid hearts at your next turn. Opener will know you have a good suit but not many HCP, else you would bid $2 \downarrow$ at once.

Blackwood

Many players do not know that the primary purpose of the world's most popular convention was to avoid bidding slam off two or more aces. In its simplest form, 4NT asks responder to show aces. Responses: 5\&, all four aces or none; $5 \downarrow$, one ace; $5 \bullet$, two aces; $5 \downarrow$, three aces. After the response, a follow-up of $5 N T$ then asks about kings, responses being the same: 6\&, all or none; etc.

Players with more experience like to use the Blackwood variation known as Roman Key Card, the "key cards" being the aces and the king of trumps. Responses: 5&, 0 or 3 key cards; 5 , 1 or 4; 5४, 2 or 5 key cards without the trump queen; 54, 2 or 5 with the trump queen. Note that it would be rare if the responder to RKCB had all five key cards, which would mean the 4NT bidder had no key cards.
With regular Blackwood or RKCB, do not bid 4NT with two quick losers in a side suit - unless partner has indicated control in that suit via a cuebid - or with a void in a side suit. In the first case, the opponents may be able to cash two tricks in the suit. In the second case, you won't know if the ace partner shows is useful to you. Note also that unless a trump suit has been agreed upon, you should not use RKCB. Be careful using Blackwood when your agreed suit is a minor, especially clubs. The response might make it impossible for you to sign off in $5 \boldsymbol{$}$, leaving you no choice but to bid 6&, which could easily be off the first two tricks. Note that you cannot get out of the mess by bidding 5 NT because that asks for kings!

THE KLINGER QUIZ

Ron Klinger

This series of quizzes consist of defensive problems, with some deals from actual tournaments. Here is the third problem:

| DIr: East | - Q 63 | West | North | East | South |
| :---: | :---: | :---: | :---: | :---: | :---: |
| Vul: All | -9742 |  |  | 1 * | $1{ }^{1}$ |
| Teams | - 7 | Dbl | 24 | 3 | 4 |
| You (W) | ¢ A J 1063 | Pass | Pass | Pass |  |

Contract: 4 by South
Lead: 2

1. West leads the $\downarrow$ : seven - king - jack.
2. East switches to the 『A: jack - five - two.
3. East continues with the $\vee$ : queen - king - four.

What next?

Solution:

| Dealer: East | - Q 63 |
| :---: | :---: |
| Vul: All | -9742 |
| Teams | - 7 |
|  | & A J 1063 |
| - 85  -K 1065  - Q 432  & K 72 | N - 4 |
|  | W E ${ }^{\text {a }} 3$ |
|  | S E AK 109865 |
|  | S |
|  | $\vee \text { QJ } 8$ |
|  | - J |
|  | & Q 5 |

Declarer had produced an effective deceptive play. Judging that East had probably shifted to a doubleton heart at trick 2, South played the $¥ J$ under the ace and the $\vee Q$ on the next heart. West was taken in and, with 10-6 left, was not about to give declarer an extra heart trick by continuing the suit. West switched to a low club, ducked to the queen. Trumps were drawn and the repeated club finesse allowed South to discard his losing heart.
Should West have picked the position? Firstly, with VA-8-3, East might well have switched to the 4 , in case South had a guess with $\mho K$ K.J. Secondly, if switching to the ace from $\geqslant A-8-3$, then it is normal to continue with the $\vee 8$, top from the remaining $\geqslant 8-3$ doubleton. In that case, the $\vee$ A followed by the $\vee 3$ was definitely a doubleton.

Bridge: A game where a mass of people sit down to be frustrated.

Both tables in a Congress Teams' match were in 4@. Both Wests led $\geqslant 2$. Both Easts won with the $\downarrow K$ and switched to $\vee A$, followed by the $\vee 3$. One South followed with the $\vee 8$ and $\vee$ Q. Winning with the 9 K , West continued with a third heart. East ruffed for one down, East-West +100.

At the other table, the play began the same way: $\leqslant 2$ to the ace, $\checkmark$ A, heart to the king, but West did not continue hearts. Why not?
